Speaker

Stemedica is a specialty biopharmaceutical company that develops, manufactures and distributes best-in-class adult stem cell products. Headquartered in San Diego, Stemedica has additional laboratory and manufacturing facilities in Russia and Korea. Stemedica continues to advance its adult stem cell technology for current pre-clinical and future clinical studies in the US and internationally.

Dr. Howe will share Stemedica's path to international growth, demonstrating how some companies, especially in high-tech fields, may originate in other countries, may conduct research and clinical trials overseas, or develop operations more rapidly in foreign markets before expanding in the USA.
